ALVAN MOOR IS NEW TREASURER

County Commissioners in Special Session Elect Successor to Late Geo. H. Caldwell.

MUCH INTEREST IN SELECTION

Many Waited Around Court House to Hear "Verdict"—Mr. Moor Former Deputy.

The county commissioners in special session this afternoon elected Alvan Moor to succeed the late George H. Caldwell as treasurer of Rush county. They were to have made the selection this morning, but for some reason no choice was made until about three o'clock this afternoon. Mr. Moor was formerly deputy in the office while John Blackledge was treasurer and is thoroughly familiar with the work. He will have one year and three months to serve yet.

There was considerable speculation as to who the new man would be and there was a good sized crowd of anxious ones around the court house most of the day and the nervousness of some of them resembled the real candidate just as the polls are closing. It had been known all along that Mr. Moor was an avowed candidate for the place and his selection was really no surprise. Many friends of Walter Newhouse had hoped that an arrangement could be made for him to remain in the office and divide the salary with Mrs. George H. Caldwell.

MINATURE QUAKE AROUSES PEOPLE

Many Residents Experience Severe Shock Early This Morning—Shook Window Glass.

WAS FELT IN OTHER CITIES

Many people were aroused this morning about three o'clock by a shock which very much resembled an earthquake. In several residences it was thought that burglars were attempting to enter the house; in another they thought their pet dog was walking across the floor. The jar was so great according to those who experienced the shock that the window glass and even dishes were shaken as to make a loud noise. The shock was felt in other places over the State.

MRS. SARAH KENNEDY'S WILL

Gives All Personal Property to Her Daughter, Miss Alice.

The will of Mrs. Sarah Kennedy probated this morning in the circuit court, gives all the personal property to her daughter, Miss Alice Kennedy. Lot seventy-two in the Sexton heirs addition to Rushville is given to Harry Kennedy and Miss Alice Kennedy, during their life. In case it is sold, the other children, Albert, Fred and Mrs. Florence E. Pearce, are to receive $100. The will states that Dr. Will Kennedy is not included in the will, since he deeded his part of the estate to Miss Alice Kennedy, who is named as executrix of the document.

The Ladies Aid Society of St. Paul's M. E. church will meet in the church parlors tomorrow afternoon.

FIREMAN IS IMPROVING

Man Thrown From Big Four Engine Regains Consciousness.

Donald Winslow, the young Fairmount man who fell off his train at Milroy the other night, is still at a boarding house in Greensburg. He has regained consciousness and Saturday was rational. His physicians do not believe he will experience much difficulty from the injuries, and believe that his recovery will now be rapid.

MOOSE PLEASED OVER SELECTION

Indianapolis Man Chosen Supreme Prelate of Lodge is Well Known in This City.

PROSPECTS HERE ARE BRIGHT

The National Convention of the Loyal Order of Moose now in session at St. Paul, Minn., selected Arthur H. Jones of Indianapolis as the Supreme Prelate, which is the third office of importance in the order and his duties concern the secret and ritualistic work.

Mr. Jones is very well known at Rushville. He is one of the prominent lawyers of the capitol city and his elevation in the Supreme lodge of Moose is very gratifying to the Indiana membership and the fraternity in general.

The affairs of the local organization office are in much better condition than at any time since the opening here and there now seems little doubt but that Rushville will have a good lodge in working order in a very short time.

PATHOS IN AGED WOMAN'S REQUEST

Mrs. Lizzie Warren Desires a Home Where She May do Work For Her Living.

SHE PREFERS INDEPENDENCE

There is a note of pathos in the roughly scribbled note received by the Daily Republican yesterday. It is from a woman whose fortunes in life have principally been misfortunes. She has a home at the poor farm now, but that is not the kind of home she wants. She is looking for a place where she can earn her living and not be dependent on the county for her existence. She says "she wants a home to do all kinds of work." She is an aged woman and the fire of independence seen in the letter is truly pathetic. She asks that anyone who may desire a woman to help them in their home to call her at the poor farm. Her name is Mrs. Lizzie Warren.

REQUESTED THAT SERVICE BE USED

George H. Caldwell Asks For Beautiful Ritualistic Ceremony of U. R. K. of P. at His Funeral

FIRST TIME EVER USED HERE

Several High Officers of the Lodge Here Yesterday Over Three Hundred in Pcession.

One of the most largely attended funerals ever held in Rushville was that of George H. Caldwell yesterday afternoon. The procession formed in Perkins street off of East Ninth street and moved down Perkins to Second and thence to East Hill cemetery where the body was buried.

The most prominent feature of the occasion was the large number of Knights of Pythias in line. About one hundred Uniform Rank marched in the procession in complete uniform besides the large number of members of the subordinate lodge. They were estimated at two hundred.

The county officials paid a tribute to their departed member by all marching in a body to the cemetery. The floral offering by the various lodges who were in attendance and also by other organizations and private parties were a beautiful array of flowers.

The ritualistic services of the Uniform Rank K. of P. were used here yesterday for the first time. The company was organized here seven years ago and Mr. Caldwell has been the captain since its beginning. During the course of the seven years two other members of the lodge have died but never before has the beautiful service used yesterday been heard here.

Several years ago several members of the lodge were ransacking in the lodge room searching for some old documents when they happened to find the ritualistic service. Captain Caldwell was in the crowd at that time then expressed the opinion that that was good enough to bury anyone with. His praise for the ceremony was unended and he said at the time he hoped that it would be used when he died. The members, recalling his request, complied with his wishes.

The highest officer in the State in the U. R. K. of P., Brigadier General Merrill E. Wilson of Indianapolis was present yesterday for the funeral. Among the other officers were: Col. Womack and Col. Wade of Indianapolis and Col. Brubaker of New Castle, all of whom are on Gen. Wilson's staff; Col. Phelps of New Castle, commander of the third regiment of which the local company is a member; Col. Hatefield and Major Fredrick of Knightstown; Captain Holmes and Weatherald of Connersville; and Lieutenant Sam Fisher of Cambridge City.

Among the lodges represented were Carnahan company No. 17 in command of Capt. White of Connersville, New Castle company No. 34 in command of Capt. Compton, and Knightstown Company No. 104 in command of Capt. Smith. The Knightstown company made the trip in five Jackson automobiles furnished by J. O. Addison, who is the agent for the car.

Rev. R. W. Abberley was the minister in charge. A large crowd assembled at the home in East Eighth street for the services and even a larger number of people were gathered at the cemetery for the last sad rites, when the procession arrived.

WATSON IS HOME.

James E. Watson returned Sunday night from Washington, Ind., where he has been attending the M. E. conference.

YOUNGSTER SINGS A SOLO

Special Music at Both Services at Baptist Church.

Special music was furnished at both services at the Morgan Street Baptist church yesterday. Charles Cassell and Miss Jordan of Connersville sang duets at both services, and Master Cassell, who is only nine years old, sang a solo at the evening service. The pastor, the Rev. E. C. Myers, preached two good sermons yesterday.

GIRLS DO YOU WANT A CORRESPONDENT?

"Real Live Son of Uncle Sam" is Anxious to Send You Postal Cards.

ON REAL BATTLESHIP, TOO

Would you like to have a real correspondent in the United States Navy? You can have one by writing E. W. Pickard, U. S. S. Yankton, New York City.

In fact this young man is very anxious to have a correspondent. (Say you men keep your nose out of this, for this is intended for women, young women, only.) There is a tinge of romance about life in the navy. That is there is romance if you have the girl. Either young Pickard, whose home is in this city, is a bit homesick or he thinks there are no girls quite like Rushville girls. At any rate he has written the following card here:

"If anybody wants to write to me this is my address. P. S. You can give this address to some girls so they can write to me and I will send postal cards of battleships to them and some other cards."

It's a great chance for the young woman who is looking for a real live son of Uncle Sam."

COTTON BLOOMS AND COOL BREEZES

Mrs. S. L. Innis Has Reminder of the Sunny Southland at Her Home in This City.

MAKES A BIG CONTRAST NOW

While the chilly autumn breezes whistle around the corner, Mrs. S. L. Innis is enjoying the real cotton field of the southland. She has a bed of cotton plants, three feet square, growing at her home in North Perkins street, and now the plants are in full bloom. It is indeed an odd sight to see the plants of the sunny south blooming here in Rush county and especially just at the time when the first real warning of winter is here.

PAISED LODGE HOME

Visiting K. of P. Shower Compliments on Local Brothers.

The local lodge of the Knights of Pythias was showered with compliments yesterday on the appearance of Castle Hall, their lodge building, which has recently been extensively remodeled. Many of the visiting members put it so strong as to say that it was the most beautiful lodge home in the State.

TOURNER IS NEW MINISTER HERE

Named by Conference Bishop as the Pastor of St. Paul's M. E. Church.

DR. TEVIS PRESIDING ELDER

Friends Pleased With Announcement That he is to be at Head of District.

The Rev. J. W. Tournier is the new minister of St. Paul's M. E. church. The appointments were read about noon today. More good news for Rushville people is that Dr. V. W. Tevis, the retiring pastor of the church here, will be the presiding elder of the Connersville district.

Mr. Tournier is said to be one of the strongest ministers in the conference. He has been resting for four years owing to ill health, but he is now fully recovered and able to take active charge of the church here. For the last four years he has been living on a farm in Decatur county. During his ministry he has been pastor of Trinity M. E. church at Evansville, one of the best and largest in the State. He was also presiding elder of the Evansville district and after that he was pastor of one of the largest M. E. churches in Louisville.

Friends of Dr. V. W. Tevis will be more than pleased to learn that he is to be presiding elder of the district. There is much hope that he will continue to live in this city, but on this point Dr. Tevis has made no announcement.

NEGRO PLACED UNDER ARREST

Samuel Buckner is Charged With Assault and Battery With Intent to Commit Murder.

TWO OTHERS ARE INDICTED

Three more arrests were made this morning on indictments returned by the grand jury. The one which caused the most surprise perhaps was that of Samuel Buckner, who is charged with assault and battery with intent to commit murder. Buckner, it will be remembered, had an encounter several months ago, but public sentiment seemed to favor him and the evidence indicated that he was not to blame for the trouble. He is a colored man of good standing in the city and promptly gave $500 bond this morning. His bondsmen are Albert Aldridge, Lincoln Guffin and Allen Daniels.

James Pea was arrested, charged with assault and battery with intent to commit murder. This is the out growth of the shooting affray at the J. M. & I. station some time ago. He furnished $100 bond.

Howard Pea was arrested, charged with petit larceny, and after being arraigned, gave $100 bond.

LAST "RATE DAY."

The I. & C. traction company will charge regular fare on Sunday in the future. Sunday was the last day for this season that the round trip rate will be $1.

One of the important industries of Chile is the exportation of honey and beeswax. Germany, France and England take most of the shipments.

THE PRESIDENT AT BIG MINES

Butte Claims Taft Party's Attention Today.

FOUND MINERS STRIKE GOING

This is the Second Strike the President Has Encountered on His Trip, a Week Ago His Party Running Into a Street Railway Strike at Omaha—Following the Rooseveltian Example, Mr. Taft on Sunday Fell Into the Sermonizing Mood Under the Spell of His Great Audience in the Mormon Tabernacle at Salt Lake City.

Butte, Mont., Sept. 27.—President Taft encountered the second strike situation of his trip upon his arrival here this morning. At Omaha last Monday the president ran into a streetcar strike, but all efforts to run cars were called off during the time he was there. This time Mr. Taft is in the midst of a strike called by the Western Federation of Miners, of which Charles H. Moyer, whose indictment in connection with the Steunenberg murder in Idaho was quashed after the acquittal of W. D. Hayward and George A. Pettibone, is still the president.

The strike has arisen through differences in the miners' organization, the engineers in the mines having split away from the federation and organized their own union, and the federation having forbidden its members to work with the recalcitrant engineers. It had been proposed that much of the president's day would be passed in and about the mines and smelters of Butte, but the president first visited the Anaconda smelters, proceeding thence into Butte at 10 a. m. Upon his arrival at Ogden, Utah, Sunday afternoon the president was taken for an eighteen-mile automobile ride through the Ogden canyon—one of the show trips of the west. Afterward he addressed a big throng in Lester Park, in which he dwelt upon the scenic beauties and wonderful possibilities of the west.

At Salt Lake City Sunday, in the pulpit of the famous Mormon tabernacle where four years ago Theodore Roosevelt, then president, preached a long sermon on right living and the duty of good citizenship. President Taft faced an audience which he said inspired him to try to follow in the footsteps of his predecessor and deliver a preaching.

Mr. Taft did preach a sermon—text and all. The immense audience in the flag-draped edifice, the splendid musical program of operatic and patriotic selections, the enthusiastic cheers as President Taft appeared and the quick response of the audience to points which he endeavored to impress upon his hearers, inspired him, the president declared, with higher thoughts of country and patriotism.

The president's sermon was an appeal for amity between the people by attributing the best rather than the worst motives to the actions of others when possible to do so and not to harbor hatred or animosity. "A soft answer turneth away wrath, but grievous words stir up anger," was the text Mr. Taft selected from the Book of Proverbs. The sermon was a homely utterance, largely made up of a relation of stories to give emphasis to the points.

From the tabernacle the president was driven to review about 20,000 school children. At one point along the line a thousand or more children had been arranged in a living flag, red, white and blue caps and capes serving to outline the national emblem. Thence the president proceeded to the Young Men's Christian Association, where he made a brief address to an audience composed entirely of men. Lastly the president attended service especially arranged for him at the Unitarian church.

Moving on Reyes Strongholds. Monterey, Mex., Sept. 27.—A detachment of rurales has left here on a special train over the National railway for the stations of Sabinas Hidalgo and Villadama, this state. Both towns are mining camps. The military authorities here declined to give any further information on the movement of the rurales, although they confirmed the transfer. Villadama and Sabinas Hidalgo have been Reyes strongholds for many years.

Governor Pardons Murderer. Springfield, Ill., Sept. 27.—The sentence of John W. Neil was commuted by Governor Deneen to expire today on recommendation of the state board of pardons. Neil was sentenced from Saline county in September, 1899, to twenty-seven years in Chester penitentiary for the murder of Cecil Williford, a striking miner.

Cigarette Causes Costly Blaze. Columbus, Ind., Sept. 27.—Eleven horses perished when the large barn of Edward Bosse was destroyed by fire, causing a loss of $8,000. The fire started in the haymow of the barn and is believed to have been caused by a lighted cigarette.

EXTORTION CHARGED

Plot to Get Money Alleged Against Lawyer and Actor.

Chicago, Sept. 22.—L. Scott Kemper, an actor, and George Hazelton, Jr., an attorney, both of New York, were arrested here after Mr. and Mrs. James H. Channon had disclosed what is declared to be a plot to extort $160,000 from them.

Threats to make public charges that Channon, while guardian of the estate of Mabel Arey, a relative by marriage, had been guilty of irregularities are the means the defendants are declared to have employed to obtain money from the Channons.

Mrs. Channon was the daughter of a widow who married Henry W. Arey, a wealthy Philadelphia man. One child, Mabel Arey, was born to this marriage, and when her father died she inherited about $200,000. Mr. Channon was appointed Miss Arey's guardian and after she reached her majority he continued as manager of her property.

Miss Arey went on the stage and married Henry Ludlam, an actor. Mr. Channon made a settlement of her property at that time. Later the Ludlams demanded a house and lot in this city, valued at $30,000, which they said Mr. Channon had withheld from them. Hazelton and Kemper then appeared in the case and threatened to expose the Channons in many irregularities in the handling of the Arey property unless they were given what the Ludlams had demanded.

HOOSIER INVENTORS WORKING ON AIRSHIP

Terre Haute Men Believe They Have Solved Problem.

Terre Haute, Ind., Sept. 27.—Julius, Louis and Harry Johnson decline to give any details of their work, and are disappointed because their secret work on an aeroplane became known. Further than the statement that a test flight would be made within a week or two, they were reticent about their work, which has been kept from the public. The brothers say they are working along original lines.

With a fifty-horse-power engine, weighing in all but 150 pounds, modeled on the principle of the Johnson motor engine, their own invention, the machine builders are basing their hopes of conquering the air.

The machine, the details of which are being kept secret, is being constructed on special lines, the chief of which will be an original balance scheme. The rudder, propeller, location of the engine and other important adjustment, are receiving special attention and will be placed on a different basis to that of the Wright, Latham and other mechanical birds.

The Johnsons, who are motor-boat and engine builders, have been working on the machine for the last eight weeks. The fact that the barn in which the brothers worked at all hours of the day and night contained a growing airship has just become known, and the inventors are now guarding their secret more zealously than ever. A trial spin will be made in a week or so on open land near Terre Haute, when the efforts of the Terre Haute men will be proven in the success or failure of their craft.

"We have the engine to fix yet," said Harry Johnson. "We shall try the machine out on the quiet first to see whether we are successful, and if so we shall give a public exhibition. We are keeping secret the details of construction and material used."

AIDED BY BALLOON

The Spaniards Profit in Warfare by an Aerial Scout.

La Restinga, Morocco, Sept. 27.—General Orozco's division has advanced in the direction of Selouan, using a captive balloon to direct the movements. The Moorish villages were set on fire by the advancing troops. Heavy resistance was encountered at several points, but the Spaniards displayed great gallantry and, keeping the Moors under a rain of shells from the batteries, drove the enemy steadily back with considerable loss.

General Marina, commander of the Spanish forces, personally followed the operations. The king's regiment, supported by a battery of artillery, was installed at Maormina to protect the line of communication. It is reported that the Moors are reforming behind a strong rocky position to the west of Nador.

PERILS OF THE AIR

Collapse of French Military Balloon Causes Death of Four.

Moulins, France, Sept. 27.—While passing over the national road, which leads from Paris to Antibes, and when at a height of 500 to 600 feet, the French dirigible military balloon Republic exploded and fell to the ground. Four men on board were killed. They were Captain Marchal, Lieutenant Phaux and Sub-Lieutenants Vincot and Reux.

An examination of the airship disclosed the cause of the accident. The axle of the right propeller had broken and the propeller had passed through the envelope, falling in a field 150 yards away.

Charged With Misuse of Mails. Springfield, Ill., Sept. 27.—Isaac Wells, forty years old, of Pittsfield, is under arrest on a charge of misuse of the mails. It is alleged he sent improper letters to young girls of Pittsfield.

A "BOOZE" BATTLE ON THE STATE LINE

Kansas and Oklahoma Lawyers Trying to Settle It.

Coffeyville, Kan., Sept. 27.—Oklahoma "jointists" attacked and seriously injured County Attorney Hal Clark of this county, following the seizure Sunday of a large quantity of contraband beer and whisky by Kansas officers just across the line from Oklahoma.

The liquor belonged to "jointists" of South Coffeyville, Okla., and had been hastily moved back and forth across the state line at least a half dozen times, as officials of both states were trying to take possession of it.

Attorney Clark, after the liquor had been seized, crossed the line in a motor car to confer with the Oklahoma officials. He was dragged from the car and beaten on the head with his own revolver. The situation presents peculiar legal aspects which attorneys from both states are trying to solve.

A Breathitt County Fratricide. Jackson, Ky., Sept. 27.—As a result of a fight between brothers, both prominent in politics in this section, Julius Caesar Hurst, Republican nominee for county judge in Breathitt county, was fatally shot by his brother Hannibal. The latter, who was not arrested, claims he fired in defense of his own life, as his brother was attempting to take hold of a shotgun.

TIN PLATE STRIKE LOST

This Is the Feeling of Men Who Know About the Situation.

Youngstown, O., Sept. 27.—As the result of a movement toward the reorganization of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tinplate Workers on lines to take in every branch of the craft, it is said officials of the body are willing that the men now on a strike in sheet and tinplate mills at Newcastle, Sharon, Pa., and Elwood, Ind., besides this city, be allowed to return to work, believing, it is reported, that the present strike is lost. President P. J. McArdle of the association has arrived here to discuss the proposition with the men.

Company Offers Concessions.

Omaha, Sept. 27.—The strike of the conductors and motormen of the Omaha and Council Bluffs Street Railway company is in a fair way to settlement. It is said substantial concessions have been offered the men by the company, and it is believed action will be taken to end the strike before the day is over.

VISITORS TO GOTHAM START GOLDEN FLOOD

New Yorkers Expect Them to Leave $25,000,000.

New York, Sept. 27.—Competent authorities estimate twenty-five million dollars as the sum in round figures that out-of-town visitors to the Hudson-Fulton celebration will leave in New York. Hotel proprietors familiar with the general situation set 600,000 as the number of visitors. Allowing for possible exaggeration, it seems safe to estimate the entire out-of-town crowd at between 800,000 and 1,000,000.

That Saturday's rush to both banks of the Hudson to witness the naval pageant was no mere redistribution of local population is proved by all the various aspects of the city Sunday. St. Patrick's cathedral up-town and old Trinity down-town were both filled with such congregations as their rectors are not wont to face except when the city is jammed with visitors. The streets were thronged with sight-seers whose gait and bearing and questions to the policemen all proclaimed them strangers.

The program for today includes probable flights by Wilbur Wright and Glenn H. Curtiss from Governor's Island and the opening of various commemorative and art exhibits throughout the city.

The Half Moon and the Clermont lie quietly at their anchorages, where they will remain until the naval parade of Friday when both little pioneers, escorted by the light-draft warships and followed by the merchant fleet, again will sail up-stream to Newburgh, where they will be turned over to the Albany upstate division of the celebration and the festivities in New York city will end.

TWO HUNDRED DEAD

And the Full Death Roll of Gulf Storm Not Yet Made Up.

New Orleans, Sept. 27.—Dispatch boats returning from Dunbar, La., between New Orleans and Bay St. Louis, Miss., have brought the news of the discovery of thirty-six bodies in one section alone. This made the number of those definitely known to have lost their lives 200, and there are possibly still more undiscovered bodies in the Louisiana marshes between this city and the Mississippi state line.

PIRATES DIDN'T GET IT

Rumor That a United States Revenue Cutter Had Been Taken, Unfounded.

Manila, Sept. 27.—Rumors in official dispatches that the revenue cutter Sora had been captured by Moro pirates were proved unfounded and great apprehension was relieved by the receipt here today of news of the safe arrival of the cutter at Sandakan, North Borneo. No word of an encounter with pirates was included in the news of the vessel's arrival.

Depositors Will Not Suffer.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 27.—The Land Trust company and the Mercantile Trust company, both of this city, did not open their doors today, having made assignments to State Banking Commissioner J. A. Berkey. Lack of money is given as a reason for the assignments. State Bank Examiner White stated that all the depositors would be paid in full.

Convicted of Murder.

Flora, Ill., Sept. 27.—R. M. Adduddell, former mayor of Flora, was sentenced to thirty years' imprisonment after a jury found him guilty of murder. Adduddell killed City Marshal Zacht Shipley last January because of the latter's activity against violators of the liquor laws.

Steamer's Hopeless Plight.

Jacksonville, Fla., Sept. 27.—The steamer Zeeburg is a hopeless wreck on the jetties. A big hole is stove in her hull and twelve feet of water is in her hold. The seas were running too high for tugs to reach her. The crew is still aboard.

The Star-Grand offers tonight a comedy entitled "On Another Man's Pass." This subject is a headliner in comedy and another big triumph for the theater. The story is a good one, most of the scenes being enacted in a Pullman sleeper, and is filled with brisk, novel comedy situations. It is a feature film in comedy. Earl Robertson will sing the late coon song entitled "Liza."

A theatrical announcement that demands more than ordinary attention is that of Wagner's magnificent spectacle of Parsifal, which will be at the Auditorium in Connersville next Thursday night. This justly celebrated play has attained a degree of unquestioned success that has seldom, if ever, been the fortune of any other production. This success has not been accomplished by any unusual or extraordinary methods, such as occasionally brings some stage celebrity or production into prominence. Its success and enthusiastic reception has been achieved by the drama's intrinsic merit and inherent beauty. A clever, specially selected cast of principals and an equally clever corps of auxiliaries are used in the production, which is marked by the employment of many of the Baireuth customs. The commencing time, however, has been modified. It has formerly been the rule to begin the evening performance at 5:30, giving an intermission of two hours for dinner. This intermission is now eliminated and the performance will begin at 7:45 sharp. There will be but a five to eight minute wait between each act, which is required to set the stupendous scenic display.

Here's Where the Fun Comes In

The young son of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Craig says things occasionally which are cute. He has a way of his own in saying things and frequently "puts one over" which is distinctly original and funny. Saturday his mother was busy preparing for the Sunday dinner. The youngster came up where she was working and asked her what she was doing.

"Why I'm dressing a chicken," she replied.

"Are you goin' to put a nice new suit on it, mama?" was the question which the youngster then put to his mother, who was unable to answer for a few minutes at least.

CHAPTER XXXVII.

Dicksie's Ride.

When Lance Dunning entered the room ten minutes later Dicksie stood at the telephone; but the ten minutes of that interval had made quite another creature of his cousin. The wires were down and no one from any quarter gave a response to her frantic ringing. Through the receiver she could hear only the sweep of the rain and the harsh crackle of the wind. Sometimes praying, sometimes fainting and sometimes despairing, she stood clinging to the instrument, ringing and pounding upon it like one frenzied. Lance looked at her in amazement. "Why, God a'mighty, Dicksie, what's the matter?"

He called twice to her before she turned, and her words almost stunned him: "Why did you not detain Sinclair here to-night? Why did you not arrest him?"

Lance's sombrero raked heavily to one side of his face, and one end of his mustache running up much higher on the other, did not begin to express his astonishment. "Arrest him? Arrest Sinclair? Dicksie, are you crazy? Why the devil should I arrest Sinclair? Do you suppose I am going to mix up in a fight like this? Do you think I want to get killed? The level-headed man in this country, just at present, is the man who can keep out of trouble, and the man who succeeds, let me tell you, has got more than plenty to do."

Lance, getting no answer but a fierce, searching gaze from Dicksie's wild eyes, laid his hand on a chair, lighted a cigar, and sat down before the fire. Dicksie dropped the telephone receiver, put her hand to her girdle, and looked at him. When she spoke her tone was stinging. "You know that man is going to Medicine Bend to kill his wife!"

Lance took the cigar from his mouth and returned her look. "I know no such thing," he growled, curtly.

"And to kill George McCloud, if he can."

He stared without reply.

"You heard him say so," persisted Dicksie, vehemently.

Lance crossed his legs and threw back the brim of his hat. "McCloud is nobody's fool. He will look out for himself."

"These fiendish wires to Medicine Bend are down. Why hasn't this line been repaired?" she cried, wringing her hands. "There is no way to give warning to any one that he is coming, and you have let him go!"

Lance whirled in his chair. "Damnation! Could I keep him from going?"

"You did not want to; you are keeping out of trouble. What do you care whom he kills to-night?"

"You've gone crazy, Dicksie. Your imagination has upset your reason. Whether he kills anybody to-night or not, it's too late now to make a row about it," exclaimed Lance, throwing his cigar angrily away. "He won't kill us."

"And you expect me to sit by and fold my hands while that wretch sheds more blood, do you?"

"It can't be helped."

"I say it can be helped! I can help it—I will help it—as you could have done if you had wanted to. I will ride to Medicine Bend to-night and help it."

Lance jumped to his feet, with a string of oaths. "Well, this is the limit!" He pointed his finger at her. "Dicksie Dunning, you won't stir out of this house to-night."

Her face hardened. "How dare you speak in that way to me? Who are you, that you order me what to do, where to stay? Am I your cowboy, to be defiled with your curses?"

He looked at her in amazement. She was only 18; he would still face her down. "I'll tell you who I am. I am master here, and you will do as I tell you. You will ride to Medicine Bend to-night, will you?" He struck the table with his clenched fist. "Do you hear me? I say, by God, not a horse shall leave this ranch in this storm to-night to go anywhere for anybody or with anybody!"

"Then I say to you this ranch is my ranch, and these horses are my horses! From this hour forth I will order them to go and come when and where I please!" She stepped toward him. "Henceforward I am mistress here. Do you hear me? Henceforward I give orders in Crawling Stone house, and every one under this roof takes orders from me!"

"Dicksie, what do you mean? For God's sake, you're not going to try to ride—"

She swept from the room. What happened afterward she could never recall. Who got Jim for her or whether she got the horse up herself, what was said to her in low, kindly words of warning by the man at Jim's neck when she sprang into the saddle, who the man was, she could not have told. All she felt at last was that she was free and out under the black sky, with the rain beating her burning face and her horse leaping fearfully into the wind.

No man could have kept the trail to the pass that night. The horse took it as if the path flashed in sunshine, and swung into the familiar stride that had carried her so many times over the 20 miles ahead of them. The storm driving into Dicksie's face cooled her. Every moment she recollected herself better, and before her mind all the aspects of her venture ranged themselves. She had set herself to a race, and against her rode the hardest rider in the mountains. She had set herself to what few men on the range would have dared and what no other woman on the range could do. A gust drove into her face. They were already at the head of the pass, and the horse, with level ground underfoot, was falling into the long reach; but the wind was colder.

Dicksie lowered her head and gave Jim the rein. She realized how wet she was; her feet and her knees were wet. She had no protection but her skirt, though the meanest rider on all her countless acres would not have braved a mile on such a night without leather and fur. The great lapels of her riding-jacket, reversed, were buttoned tight across her shoulders, and the double fold of fur lay warm and dry against her heart and lungs; but her hands were cold, and her skirt dragged leaden and cold from her waist, and water soaked in upon her chilled feet.

She became conscious of how fast she was going. Instinct, made keen by thousands of saddle miles, told Dicksie of her terrific pace. She was riding faster than she would have dared go at noonday and without thought or fear of accident. In spite of the sliding and the plunging down the long hill, the storm and the darkness brought no thought of fear for herself; her only fear was for those ahead. In supreme moments a horse, like a man when human efforts become superhuman, puts the lesser dangers out of reckoning, and the faculties, set on a single purpose, though strained to the breaking-point, never break. Low in her saddle, Dicksie tried to reckon how far they had come and how much lay ahead. She could feel her skirt stiffening about her knees, and the rain beating at her face was sharper; she knew the sleet as it stung her cheeks, and knew what next was coming—the snow.

There was no need to urge Jim. He had the rein and Dicksie bent down to speak to him, as she often spoke when they were alone on the road, when Jim, bolting, almost threw her. Recovering instantly, she knew they were no longer alone. She rose alert in her seat. Her straining eyes could see nothing. Was there a sound in the wind? She held her breath to listen, but before she could apprehend Jim leaped violently ahead. Dicksie screamed in an agony of terror. She knew then that she had passed another rider, and so close she might have touched him.

Fear froze her to the saddle; it lent wings to her horse. The speed became wild. Dicksie knifed herself to her dumb companion and a prayer choked in her throat. She crouched lest a bullet tear her from her horse; but through the darkness no bullet came, only the sleet, stinging her face, stiffening her gloves, freezing her hair, chilling her limbs, and weighting her like lead on her struggling horse. She knew not even Sinclair could overtake her now—that no living man could lay a hand on her bridle-rein—and she pulled Jim in down the winding hills to save him for the long flat. When

CONTINUES TO WORK WONDERS IN RUSHVILLE

But This Week Will Be The Last of Demonstrations.

It is absurd to doubt the great merits of Root Juice as proofs of its wonderful health-promoting merits can be found in scores of homes here in Rushville and vicinity. It has undoubtedly proved to be the world's greatest healing tonic to the stomach, bowels, bladder, liver and kidneys. No weak, sickly man or woman can afford to wait another day without getting some of the great medicine, as a few doses usually create marked improvement and from the experience of many local people the soothing, healing and strengthening action of the remedy is so rapid that it is absolutely wonderful. Dozens of people have so reported a Wolcott's drug store within the last few days. We are informed that the demonstrations will positively close at this point next Saturday night and until the close of the demonstrations the Juice will be sold for one dollar a bottle or three bottles and a half.

they struck it they had but four miles to go.

Across the flat the wind drove in fury. Reflection, thought and reason were beginning to leave her. She was crying to herself quietly as she used to cry when she lost herself, a mere child, riding among the hills. She was praying meaningless words. Snow purred softly on her cheeks. The cold was soothing her senses. Unable at last to keep her seat on the horse, she stopped him, slipped stiffly to the ground, and, struggling through the wind as she held fast to the bridle and the horn, half walked and half ran to start the blood through her numbened veins. She struggled until she could drag her mired feet no farther, and tried to draw herself back into the saddle. It was almost beyond her. She sobbed and screamed at her helplessness. At last she managed to climb flounderingly back into her seat, and, bending her stiffened arms to Jim's neck, she moaned and cried to him. When again she could hold her seat no longer, she fell to the horse's side, dragged herself along in the frozen slush, and, screaming with the pain of her freezing hands, drew herself up into the saddle.

She knew that she dare not venture this again—that if she did so she could never remount. She felt now that she should never live to reach Medicine Bend. She rode on and on and on—would it never end? Then came a sound like the beating of great drums in her ears. It was the crash of Jim's hoofs on the river bridge, and she was in Medicine Bend.

A horse, galloping low and heavily, slued through the snow from Fort street into Boney, and, where it had so often stopped before, dashed up on the sidewalk in front of the little shop. The shock was too much for its unconscious rider, and, shot headlong from her saddle, Dicksie was flung bruised and senseless against Marion's door.

BEGAN BY CLOSING PAPER.

First Incident In Army Career of Late General Corbin.

Lieutenant General Henry C. Corbin, former adjutant general of the United States army and one of the best known of American soldiers, who died recently in New York, began his career as a soldier by closing up Murat Halstead's Cincinnati Commercial. It was in August of 1862. Young Corbin, not quite twenty, had been assigned as second lieutenant to the Seventy-ninth Ohio volunteers, of which Rutherford B. Hayes was colonel. He was required to enlist thirty men. He got twenty-nine of them the first day from the shops of the Little Miami railroad. The captain, pleased with his success, sent him back for more. He happened in front of the Commercial office just as the printers were going to dinner, but the hungry men paid no attention to the young recruiting officer. Not to be rebuffed, however, he singled out a likely looking young man and invited him to luncheon.

That noon the future general brought to bear that power of personal persuasiveness which in future years contributed so much to a career of remarkable good fortune. The printer was won over. They returned to the Commercial office that afternoon and before night took away with them thirty-two men.

"Young man," said Mr. Halstead when he met Lieutenant Corbin the next day, "do you know you have closed out our paper?"

The editor merely asked in return, however, that Corbin assist his brother, Benton Halstead, by crediting to him extra men, as the younger Halstead, a recruiting lieutenant, had been unable to fill his quota on account of being then in the field. Corbin agreed and refused to take the money the brother offered for his trouble. There began a warm, lifelong friendship between the soldier and the editor.

MARTYR OF PEARY'S TRIP.

Cornell Professor Only Man to Lose His Life on Journey.

Professor Ross Gilmore Marvin of Cornell, the only man to lose his life during the Peary expedition to the north pole, was the first assistant to Commander Peary and chief scientist of the expedition. He was drowned on April 10 forty-five miles north of Cape Columbia while in command of the supporting party.

Professor Marvin was a young man—less than thirty years old. He was born in Elmira, N. Y. When he was less than ten years old his father, Edward Marvin, then city overseer of the poor, died, leaving a widow and five children, of whom Ross was the youngest.

Ross Marvin after a course in the Elmira high school worked his way through Cornell university, taking up classics and later a course in civil engineering. He displayed a retentive mind and an indomitable courage and spirit.

Ross Marvin's courage and scholarship attracted the attention of the faculty, and when Commander Peary in arranging his expedition to the arctic four years ago asked Cornell to lend him a vigorous man to collect scientific data there was no hesitation in selecting Marvin, who was able, ready and willing for the adventure.

After his return in 1906 he remained on the instructing staff of Cornell university, and, realizing the value to the scientific world of the work being done by arctic expeditions, that institution had generously granted him leave of absence to accompany Commander Peary once more and continue the valuable work already under way.

has played havoc with the tresses of the fair sex, and druggists everywhere comment on the fact that they are selling large quantities of sage for making the old-fashioned "sage tea," such as was used by our grandmothers for promoting the growth of their hair and restoring its natural color. The demand for this well-known herb for this purpose has been so great that one manufacturer has taken advantage of the fact, and has placed on the market an ideal "sage tea," containing sulphur, a valuable remedy for dandruff and scalp rashes and irritations. This preparation, which is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, is sold by all leading druggists for 50 cents and $1 a bottle, or will be sent direct by the Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Courtlandt St., New York City, upon receipt of price.

HARRY WHITNEY NEARING HOME

Peary 'Wouldn't Let Him Bring Cook's Things.

MORE WORD OUT OF THE NORTH

New Haven Sportsman Who is Said to Hold the Key to Remarkable Polar Dispute Sends a Significant Message to Dr. Cook From Northern Outpost.—Peary Would Not Allow Him to Bring on Board the Roosevelt the Records and Instruments Which Dr. Cook Had Intrusted to Him in the Far North.

New York, Sept. 27.—According to Harry Whitney, the New Haven sportsman, in a dispatch received in this city by Dr. Frederick A. Cook, Commander Robert E. Peary refused absolutely to allow any of the records or instruments of Dr. Cook to be brought aboard the steamer Roosevelt and was thus instrumental in causing these records to remain in a cache at Etah, Greenland. The message, which came as a response to one sent by Dr. Cook, is as follows:

"Strathcona, via Indian Harbor and Capt Ray, N. F., Sept. 25.

"Dr. F. A. Cook, Waldorf, New York: Started for home Roosevelt. Nothing arrived for me. Peary would allow nothing belonging to you on board. Said to leave everything in cache at Etah.

"Met Captain Sam, North Star. Did not go back after going on schooner bound St. Johns. Take steamer home. Hope you well. See you soon. Explain all. Good shooting.—Harry Whitney."

Dr. Cook was questioned as to his view of the situation created by the action ascribed to Commander Peary, but he declined to say anything derogatory of his rival.

"It may be that the instruments will arrive this year after all," he said, "and as for the records and observations, their non-arrival here makes no difference whatever, as I have complete duplicates, so that there will be no delay in compiling my story with all its details."

Dr. Cook did not appear to be greatly perturbed by the news he had received from Mr. Whitney. He hopes to see him in a very short time and hear a complete explanation of the occurrences at Etah.

Dr. Cook denied the report that he was to bring suit for slander against Peary. "There is no truth in the report," he said. "I have no intention of bringing suit. Naturally I am taking measures to have everything in order in case of necessity, but I have never even thought of filing a suit, and I wish to contradict such reports at once."

If they are still at Etah, Dr. Cook's instruments may not arrive in New York until the spring months of 1910. There is a possibility, however, of their reaching here this year, as another vessel may have touched at Etah after the Roosevelt left.

PEARY'S REASON FOR IT

He Wasn't Going to Help Along the Claims of His Rival.

Portland, Me., Sept. 27.—From a source close to Commander Peary it was learned that the commander justifies his action of refusing to allow Dr. Frederick A. Cook's instruments or records on board the homeward-bound steamer Roosevelt on the theory that he had been aware for some time of Cook's intention to claim the discovery of the north pole and that Peary therefore would sanction nothing to aid this project.

Peary's forthcoming statement concerning Cook, it was learned, will charge that the Brooklyn explorer can not produce shoes, sledges or other equipment which will show the wear and tear that comes from travel over the Arctic ice. This is the first intimation of any specific evidence that the commander will produce, although he has said from time to time he has evidence enough to discredit Dr. Cook.

It seems evident that Peary is desirous of issuing his statement in the near future, especially since the arrival of Harry Whitney at Indian Harbor. While he declared that Whitney has no part in the controversy, Commander Peary nevertheless has received messages concerning Whitney's progress. He has, however, made no attempt to communicate with Whitney and says that he will make none.

The Jeanie's Progress.

St. Johns, N. F., Sept. 27.—Wireless dispatches received here state that the schooner Jeanie, which is bringing Harry Whitney, the New Haven hunter, back to civilization, left Indian Harbor Saturday morning for St. Johns. It is expected that the Jeanie will arrive here Wednesday.

Portland, Me., Sept. 27.—The Peary Arctic ship Roosevelt arrived at Eagle Island, Commander Peary's summer home, at noon Sunday, and after landing some of his personal effects, left last night for New York.

REFUSED WRIT OF INJUNCTION

Judge Carter Ho'ds Vincennes Bonds Valid.

HANLY'S PLEA WAS REJECTED

Contention Over the Delivery of Celebrated Bonds to Vincennes University Will Now Be Carried to the Supreme Court of Indiana, Former Governor Hanly Having Announced His Determination to Appeal From the Decision of the Superior Court at Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Sept. 27.—The theory of J. Frank Hanly, former governor of Indiana, that the act under which the Vincennes university bond issue of $120,548 was authorized by the legislature in 1907 is invalid, was given a setback when Judge Vinson Carter, in the superior court, handed down a decision declaring the act to be valid and refusing a writ of injunction asked by Mr. Hanly to prevent the delivery of the bonds to the Vincennes university. Mr. Hanly will take an appeal to the supreme court as soon as the papers can be completed.

During Mr. Hanly's administration as governor he refused to sign the bonds on the theory that the act under which the issue was authorized is an invalid one. Later Governor Marshall, however, affixed his signature to the papers, but before Secretary of State Sims had signed them, as required by law, Mr. Hanly went into the superior court and secured a temporary restraining order directed against Sims to prevent his signature to the bonds until the matter could be thrashed out in court.

The ground upon which the injunction was asked was that the act was contrary to the state constitution.

The bonds are now in the hands of Secretary of State Sims. The bonds bear the signature of Governor Marshall and await the signature of the secretary of state.

"I will not sign them immediately," said Mr. Sims. "After sufficient time has elapsed to allow an appeal to be taken I will seek advice as to whether to sign the bonds right away. The bonds were turned over to me in a sealed package after the governor's signature was placed on them, and the package has not been opened."

MALFEASANCE CHARGED

Mayor of Mattoon and an Alderman Indicted in City Court.

Mattoon, Ill., Sept. 27.—On charges of malfeasance in office, Mayor Charles

T. Welsh and Alderman M. J. Lynch were indicted in the city court.

Two counts in the indictment returned against the mayor charge him with having allowed saloons, gambling houses and resorts to run wide open in violation of the law. A third count charges the mayor with having violated the power of his office in forcing the city council to adjourn without formal action during a meeting a month ago after demands had been made that he resign.

The indictments against the alderman were not made public, but are said to cover similar charges. Lynch is the right-hand man of the mayor in the city council.

The indictments are the result of work done by the newly formed Mattoon Citizens' League, organized to combat vice in the city. The leaders of the league declare they have proof to convict both officials. The attorney for the league, H. A. Meal of Charleston, Ill., will assist State's Attorney Robert Hammond in the prosecution. The accused men declare politics is back of the prosecution. Both are Democrats.

The Want Advertisements Are "Humanizing"

When more people come to use and answer Want and For Sale Advertisements, more people will know each other—

MORE PEOPLE WITH MUTUAL INTEREST WILL MEET—

more people will find channels and opportunities for reciprocal services. Truly, the Daily Republican Want Ads are "humanizing" people—shaming away the scorn of small things, the scorn of "bar-gaining," of exchanging useful but not used things for useful and usable ones.

NEW BOOSTER SONG

GETTING THE REAL RUSHVILLE.

We're coming now from every side
To boost for old Rushville.
Be a booster, a Rushville booster.
That we've got resources for great growth can never be denied.
Everybody boost for Rushville now.
On corn and wheat, live stock, too, our farms the prizes win.
Be a booster, a Rushville booster.
Of natural gas we have the most; we'll make the shop wheels spin.
Be a booster, boost for Rushville hearty.

CHORUS.

Be a booster, a Rushville booster!
For vigorous Y. M. C. C. we'll boost with all our might.
Be a booster, a Rushville booster!
Give a rush, rah for old Rushville.

For racing stock our county's famed, with ribbons all bedecked
Be a booster and rush for Rushville.
To win upon the racing course our horses we expect.
Be a booster, boost for Rushville hearty.
In politics we have the men well known the country 'round.
Be a booster and boost for Rushville.
For schools and churches and good stores, a better can't be found.
Be a booster, boost for Y. M. C. C.

CHORUS.

The fastest traction system known has quarters in our town.
Be a booster, a Rushville booster.
While four first-class steam railroads, too
Reach all the country 'round.
Be a booster, boost for old Rushville now.
Of factories we have some. For more we do insist.
Be a booster for Rushville hearty!
Now that we have 'em on our line, we'll land 'em in our midst.
Be a booster, boost for Rushville hearty.

CHORUS.

Our people have capacity to work with brain and skill.
Be a booster, a Rushville booster.
We've bounteous crops from fertile lands; our farmers now will till
Be a booster, strong for old Rushville now!
We've started. Factories will come. Our motto is "We Will!"
Be a booster, a Rushville booster.
No longer called "an old slow town;
We'll soon have a real RUSHVILLE.
Be a booster, boost for Y. M. C. C.

BELIEVE COWS WERE POISONED

Neighborhood Near Orange Excited

Over Supposed Attempt to Kill

J. R. Gray's Cattle.

ONE MAY DIE; NINE ARE SICK

There is considerable excitement in the neighborhood of Orange over the alleged poisoning of J. R. Gray's cattle. Although it is not definitely known that his cattle were poisoned many there believe that it is a plain case. Mr. Gray went to milk his cows Friday morning and found that ten of them were in a serious condition. It is thought that a fine Jersey will die, but the others are all improving. They have been on pasture and it is thought they had no chance to get anything that would put them in this condition unless some one had left the poison where it would be convenient for the cattle. Mrs. Gray created considerable excitement some time ago by horse-whipping a neighbor man at a public sale.

Because in the fall there are usually no dust-laden, insect carrying winds.
Because in the fall the wood is dry and the paint penetrates deeper, securing a firmer hold on it.
Because in the fall a paint application dries harder, more naturally and consequently will wear longer.
